

SKIP Partners with Our Kids' Health to Launch a 'Pain Education Hub'

We are excited to announce a new partnership between Solutions for Kids in Pain (SKIP) and Our Kids' Health. This collaboration aims to establish a 'Pain Education Hub' on Our Kids' Health's platform, designed to provide culturally adapted, community-led knowledge mobilization tools for a variety of cultural-linguistic communities. This collaboration aligns with our shared mission to improve children's pain management and bridge healthcare disparities among culturally diverse communities, ensuring that equal access to vital information is provided for all children and their families. This new partnership is supported by Dalhousie University's Next Wave Fund.

Our Kids' Health (OKH) is a community-driven platform dedicated to providing accessible, culturally relevant, and evidence-based parenting resources for Black, Indigenous, and People of Colour (BIPOC) families, addressing their unique needs and empowering them to improve their children's health and wellness.

Solutions for Kids in Pain (SKIP) is a national knowledge mobilization network whose mission is to improve children's pain management through coordination and collaboration.

"Partnering with SKIP to develop the Pain Education Hub aligns perfectly with our mission to bridge knowledge gaps and address healthcare disparities among culturally diverse communities. This initiative represents an important step toward equitable healthcare resources for all families", shared Dr. Ripudaman Singh Minhas, co-founder of Our Kids' Health.

"This partnership will empower families from diverse backgrounds to better understand and manage their children's pain, with resources that respect and respond to their unique cultural contexts. By bringing together our expertise and resources with Our Kids Health, we can truly expand our reach to support children in a meaningful way", said Dr. Christine Chambers and Dr. Katie Birnie from Solutions for Kids in Pain (SKIP).

We look forward to launching the Pain Education Hub and sharing upcoming activities related to this initiative. For more information, please visit <https://kidsinpain.ca/> and <https://kidshealthnetwork.org/>.

Together, Solutions for Kids in Pain (SKIP) and Our Kids Health are committed to improving pediatric pain management and promoting health equity, and we look forward to the impactful outcomes this collaboration will create.

Best wishes,
The SKIP Team
